Front-end Web Developer

My name is Hannah Thompson. I am a creative and motivated person, with a passion for front-end web development. I love how creativity and logic work together to create a whole experience for the user.

I am proficient in HTML, CSS (LESS and SASS) and Javascript. I'm also working to improve my skill set in ES6 and React. I enjoy organising the architecture side of websites. Code that is easy to follow and well organised is the foundation for a solid, scalable website and happy developers.

If you are interested in meeting me for an interview, or have any questions please do not hesitate to contact me.
